South Dakota Division of Adult Services & Aging

ASA Mission

Adult Services and Aging's (ASA) mission is to foster and promote home and community-based services so that the elderly and disabled adults in South Dakota can avoid premature or inappropriate institutional care.

Older Americans Act

One of the primary mechanisms for organizing, coordinating and providing community-based services to older Americans is through the Older Americans Act. The Act was authorized in 1965 to meet the diverse needs of a growing number of elderly individuals. It established the Administration on Aging (AoA) as the federal focal point and advocacy agency for the country's older citizens. AoA administers most Older Americans Act programs at the national level, provides technical assistance and support to the national aging network, and awards funds for supportive home and community-based services to State Units on Aging. Funds are intended to foster a comprehensive system of service delivery that meets local demands for elderly-related services including services for caregivers.

State Unit on Aging

The South Dakota Department of Social Services, Division of Adult Services and Aging, is the State Unit on Aging and is responsible for administering Older American Act programs at the state level. As the State Unit on Aging, ASA is responsible for serving as an advocate for older citizens, allocating state and federal funds, monitoring the development and implementation of service systems and providing technical assistance to agencies, organizations and individuals that are interested in the needs of elderly persons.

Adult Services and Aging Local Offices

South Dakota is divided into 10 districts, which includes twenty-five local offices. Located in the local offices are 2 regional managers, 11 supervisors, 67 specialists and 5 medical review team nurses.

Service Providers

Service providers contracted by Adult Services and Aging to provide needed services include Nutrition providers, Adult Day Services providers, Transportation providers, and Legal Services agencies, Home Health agencies, Homemaker providers, etc.

State Advisory Council on Aging

The Older Americans Act requires the Division of Adult Services and Aging to have an Advisory Council on Aging. Members of the SD Advisory Council on Aging are appointed by the Governor. The 12 members who serve on this council are from across the state. A majority of the membership consists of actual or potential consumers of services through the Older Americans Act.

The Advisory Council on Aging:

- Advises ASA staff on concerns relating to the needs of older South Dakotans.
- Initiates and supports cooperation among state agencies and departments to improve services to older South Dakotans.
- Reviews and evaluates programs and services and makes recommendations to the Governor or appropriate administrators for improving or integrating such activities to be more beneficial to older South Dakotans.
- Reviews and makes recommendations on applications for grants to be funded through ASA.
- And other duties as necessary to ensure representation of older South Dakotans in legislative, administrative and social concerns that would improve their status.

Members of the South Dakota Advisory Council on Aging are: (as of 01-01-2008)

Therese M Shoener (Chairperson)	Rapid City
Reverend Mary Husby	Sioux Falls
Robert Place	Huron
Donna Seaton	Aberdeen
Phyllis O'Connor	Rapid City
Lorraine Ellwein	Pierre
Dr. Gerald Tracy	Watertown
Fran Hendricks	Huron
Sally Damm	Brookings
James Stein	Pierre
Dr. Fred Entwistle	Sioux Falls

ASA Programs

Through various programs, Adult Services and Aging provides or purchases services for disabled adults and older persons. ASA provides leadership in identifying service delivery methods, and field staff located across the state directly provide assessment and case management services to evaluate the needs of the individual. Based on the assessment, appropriate services are authorized and an Individual Care Plan is developed with the needs of the client specifically identified. Specialists may also work with community groups and organizations to identify needs of South Dakota's elderly.

Caregiver Support

Adult Services & Aging offers services that can help caregivers deal with the daily burden of caring for an elderly person. These services can help caregivers avoid burnout by giving them the relief they need to work or pursue other daytime activities.

South Dakota Caregiver Program provides services to caregivers who are providing assistance to someone over the age of 60. A caregiver is an adult family member, or another individual, who is an informal, unpaid provider. This does not include caregivers for someone in a nursing home or assisted living. Services include:

Information and Referral is one-on-one service for older individuals that:

- provides the individuals with current information on opportunities and services available to the individuals within their communities; and
- links the individuals to the opportunities and services that are available.

Case Management is assistance either in the form of access or care coordination. Activities of case management include assessing needs, developing care plans, authorizing services, arranging services, coordinating the provision of services among providers, follow-up and reassessment, as required.

Caregiver Relief is temporary support to provide a brief period of relief or rest to the caregiver on an intermittent, occasional or emergency basis. The caregiver has the responsibility for identifying and selecting a provider. Relief services include: in-home respite, nonresidential program and institutional relief.

Adult Day Services helps adults remain living in their own homes for as long as possible. Through activities and services, Adult Day Services provides regular care and supervision outside of the home for part of a day. This enables the primary caregiver to work or pursue other daytime activities as well as providing a needed respite for the caregiver.

Respite Care provides temporary relief to the primary caregiver from the continuous support and care of an elderly or dependent adult individual. This relief helps prevent individual and family breakdown, institutionalization or abuse by the primary caregiver. Respite Care is not meant to replace other specialized services.

The primary caregiver has the responsibility to identify and select the Respite Care provider. This person may be a neighbor, friend, family acquaintance or community resource person that has agreed to provide the care. Respite Care services may be provided in the client's home, respite care provider's home or in another type of community setting.

Home Safety

Accessible, safe homes make it possible for older persons to remain living in their own homes or return home following rehabilitation or a nursing facility stay. Assistive devices and home modifications can provide a safe and secure home environment.

Assistive Devices can be made available to the frail elderly population served to prevent or delay individuals from institutionalization in addition to providing a more safe and secure home environment. Items such as bath seats, toilet risers or other adaptive equipment make independence attainable.

Chore Maintenance contracts have been awarded to the Pierre and Huron Area Retired & Senior Volunteer Programs (RSVP). Through these contracts, Chore Maintenance services are provided to South Dakota's frail elderly. Aberdeen, Mitchell, Sioux Falls, Rapid City, Spearfish/Sturgis, and Webster/Watertown RSVP programs also provide Chore Maintenance services on a limited basis.

RSVP volunteers complete a Home Safety Checklist at the home or apartment of the eligible individual. This checklist is used to identify needed repairs as well as safety issues such as poor lighting, trailing wires, etc. The need for lawn care and snow removal is also reviewed. Those things which are identified as a need will be discussed with the individual and a plan developed to make the home safe. Ongoing services could include changing light bulbs, checking the batteries in smoke detectors, shoveling snow, etc.

Information and Referral

Many older Americans seek advice from informal sources - family, friends, clergy and doctors. Today, older Americans and their caregivers face a complicated array of choices and decisions about health care, pensions, insurance, housing, financial management and long-term care. Depending on circumstances and needs, the assistance and support consumers require can be as simple as factual information and materials or as involved as advocacy and intervention.

Adult Services and Aging Specialists can provide information to link families with local community service providers or refer them to the appropriate agency that can help.

Case Management

As individuals grow older, their needs and lifestyles change. Environmental, social and medical services may need to be altered. Case Management can help identify resources before a crisis occurs. Case Management can help an individual locate the most appropriate resources and services.

The Division of Adult Services and Aging provides an array of services to assist elderly persons in preventing or delaying premature or inappropriate institutionalization. The ASA specialist will discuss eligibility requirements and procedures for the programs available. In addition, there may be other agencies and community organizations that have programs and services that can be accessed.

In-Home Services

In-Home Services are available to elderly and disabled adults who need assistance with routine household tasks. Recipients of these services may be recovering from an illness or have physical limitations.

Homemaker Services make it possible for older persons to live in their own homes or to return to their homes by providing assistance in completing tasks they are unable to manage alone. This program is not designed to replace the assistance that is provided by family and friends. A homemaker is assigned to provide basic household assistance. This may include housekeeping, laundry and assistance with personal hygiene.

Personal Care Services are available to Medicaid-eligible people who have a medical-related need for assistance with bathing, grooming, dressing and other tasks. This service is physician-ordered if the medical condition requires monitoring.

Long-Term Care

When elderly people can no longer live in their own homes, there are a number of options available to address their needs.

Adult Foster Care provides room, board and general supervision of personal care services in a family home. Adult Foster Care can meet the needs of adults who require periodic or regular assistance with activities of daily living, but do not require nursing services. Examples of "daily living" include dressing, bathing, eating, brushing teeth, combing hair, etc. Adult Foster Care homes may serve both private pay individuals and state pay clients. The Department of Social Services is responsible for case management services to clients age 60 and over and receiving state payment. If the client is under the age of 60, the Department of Human Services, Division of Developmental Disabilities is responsible for payment and case management.

Assisted Living facilities vary in size, style and the optional services they may provide. Small family style living or the larger complex of units can be found in the state. Some facilities are operated by non-profit organizations while others are proprietary. In addition, some facilities may be co-located and/or affiliated with a hospital or nursing facility. Under administrative rules adopted in 1995, assisted living facilities may accept certain restricted admissions if they meet additional licensing requirements.

In South Dakota, the Department of Health is responsible for the licensure and inspection of Assisted Living facilities. The Administrative Rules of South Dakota, Article 44:04, Medical Facilities, specifies the requirements for staffing, operating and resident care.

Prescription Assistance

For most people, medicines are an important part of their health care. Increasing prescription choices raise many questions. Consumers must have adequate and pertinent information in order to make informed decisions about their medications.

Prescription assistance programs provide free or low-cost prescription medicine as well as other supplies and equipment to low-income people who are uninsured or under-insured and meet the guidelines. Most medicines are provided by the pharmaceutical companies that manufacture the medicine. Some of the programs will help if you are enrolled in Part D, other programs help on a case-by-case basis. Most prescription assistance programs require US residency.

Companies drop and add programs regularly. If the drug you are taking is not currently listed as available, it may mean there is currently no program that covers that drug. On rare occasions, some companies will make an exception and make a drug available that is not on their current list. Sometimes companies will help out patients even if they have no program.

The South Dakota Senior Health Information and Insurance Education (SHIINE) program provides free one-on-one counseling and advice services, public education programs and media presentations. SHIINE volunteers have received training and are well versed with all facets of the Medicare program (including Part D), Medicaid, health insurance benefits, fraud and abuse. SHIINE volunteers are available to help individuals access prescription assistance programs. Contact the SHIINE program at www.shiine.net or call (605) 333-3314.

An example of another program is the Abbott Diabetes Patient Assistance Program which provides free monitoring systems, strips, and lancets to those people who meet their guidelines. Limited supplies are available.

Wal-Mart and Sam's Club and others, offer some generic prescriptions for $4.00. These programs do not usually include all generics. The pharmacist may be able to help you pick the least expensive way to buy your medicine.

For information visit the website at www.dss.sd.gov/elderlyservices or call toll free at 1-866-854-5465 for assistance with finding a prescription assistance program to meet your needs.

Legal Services

Older people sometimes need legal assistance. For those who cannot afford to pay privately for this assistance, the Older Americans Act requires states to provide legal services specifically to older persons with the greatest economic and social need. Legal Services are provided through legal corporations to assist individuals 60 and older with legal questions. Eligible persons can receive help with wills, landlord disputes, rights to public benefits and other legal issues. Legal Services staff, an attorney or a paralegal, can provide legal advice, negotiate settlements, prepare appeals and represent clients during court proceedings or hearings.

Transportation

Transportation is provided in buses or vans, some equipped with wheelchair lifts. Volunteers using their own cars may provide other services. Funds may be awarded to senior centers and other community organizations to provide transportation for elderly people. Transportation is also available to Medicaid-eligible individuals for medical appointments to the nearest health care provider. The Division of Adult Services and Aging does not directly provide transportation services, but awards grants through the Older Americans Act to transit providers.

Nutrition

Congregate meal sites serve nutritionally balanced noon meals in senior centers, housing projects, schools and community buildings. Home delivered meals may be available to individuals who are confined to their home. Volunteers in many communities deliver meals.

Senior meals offer:

- Hot, nutritious meals.
- Delicious meals offering a variety of food.
- An opportunity to meet others in a group dining atmosphere.
- Social contact for those who are homebound.
- An opportunity to help others by assisting with the program.

Senior Health Information & Insurance Education (SHIINE)

Senior Health Information and Insurance Education (SHIINE) ensures that health care consumers have a competent, committed and compassionate consumer-focused network of staff and volunteers. These volunteers and staff provide accurate and objective information through innovative community programs at the state and local level.

The South Dakota SHIINE program has recruited and trained volunteer counselors across South Dakota to assist senior citizens who have problems or questions with Medicare or private Medicare supplemental insurance. SHIINE also has trained counselors to assist in answering questions about Medicare Prescription Drug Coverage and to provide a personal plan comparison report that gives detailed information about the plans that best meet an individual's needs. This program is free to the citizens of South Dakota. To receive help, individuals may contact SHIINE at 1-800-536-8197.

Adult Protective Services

Adult Protective Services provides assistance to adults who are at risk of abuse, neglect or exploitation and are unable to protect their own interests. Referrals for a person in need of a power of attorney, guardianship or a conservator are also examples of Protective Services. Adult Services and Aging Specialists fulfill the role of Adult Protective Services for South Dakota.

The Long-Term Care Ombudsman Program receives, investigates and resolves complaints that are made by, or on behalf of, individuals who are residents of nursing facilities, assisted living centers and residential living centers. The Ombudsman is an advocate for the resident and provides information or assistance regarding concerns or complaints about the health, safety, welfare and rights of residents.

Adult Services and Aging staff, serving in the role of an Ombudsman, visit nursing facilities and assisted living residents, statewide, investigate and work toward the resolution of resident complaints. The program also provides information and referral assistance, conducts educational activities to increase community awareness of elder rights, and provides training to long-term care and assisted living staff. All reports and inquiries are confidential.

Victims Assistance

Crime Victims' Compensation was created to provide monetary assistance to victims of violent crimes. Up to $15,000 may be paid for certain expenses incurred as a direct result of personal injury to or death of the victim from a crime committed after July 1, 1999. (Prior to 7-1-99, up to $10,000 may be paid.) The expenses may include medical, mental health counseling, funeral and burial, loss of earnings or support, replacement costs for personal property used as evidence, and other similar expenses.

Compensation cannot be paid for other property losses, attorney's fees or pain and suffering. In most cases, payments can only be made if there is no other source of payment including private health insurance for the victim, other public programs, etc.

For more information contact the Crime Victims' Compensation Program at (605) 773-6317 or 1-800-696-9476.

The Domestic Abuse Program provides funding for shelters for abused women and children. Shelter programs offer a wide range of services, including those that help older battered women. Services that are available to victims of domestic abuse and/or sexual assault include: a 24-hour crisis line, transportation, immediate safe shelter, food, clothing, counseling and information and referral to other services the victim may need. The phone number for the South Dakota Domestic Abuse Hotline is 1-800-430-SAFE (7233).

State Library Braille & Talking Books

The mission of the State Library is to provide equal access to print materials in a format acceptable to all citizens of South Dakota who cannot read standard print. The inability to read standard print may be caused by a visual impairment that prevents seeing the print, a physical disability that prevents holding the materials and/or turning the pages, or a learning disability caused by an organic dysfunction. The alternative formats include large print, Braille, cassette recording or electronic files.

Playback equipment and accessories have been designed for easy operation by disabled readers. All playback equipment is loaned to you free of charge for as long as you are actively borrowing books. The State Library allows each reader one cassette player and/or one record player. In order to play talking book cassettes and records, you will need special playback equipment. This is because the talking book cassettes and records are not recorded the same way that commercial cassettes and records are recorded.

Individuals who cannot read or use conventional printed materials as a result of physical limitations, i.e. blind, visually limited, physically limited, and reading/learning disabled are by law eligible. This also includes persons in private homes, nursing homes, hospitals, schools and other institutions.

Energy Assistance

Energy Assistance helps low-income South Dakotans pay for home heating costs and home improvements that help conserve energy. The program has two parts: Low Income Energy Assistance and Weatherization Assistance.

The Low Income Energy Assistance Program helps pay a family's heating costs by making payments directly to the energy supplier. It can also pay for emergency heating system repairs. The program is designed to supplement payments made by families who would otherwise be unable to pay the full cost of their home heating.

The Weatherization Assistance Program helps low-income people pay for home insulation and other energy-saving improvements that will lower their heating bills. Local community agencies hire their own crews or contract with small businesses to perform the work and purchase materials from local vendors and manufacturers.

Food Stamps

The Food Stamp Program helps low-income South Dakotans buy the food they need to stay healthy while they work to regain financial independence. Food stamp benefits are provided to supplement the recipient's food budget. The amount of benefits a household receives is based on its size and income.

Cooperative Extension Service

The goal of the Cooperative Extension Service is to serve the people of South Dakota through an educational process that helps them improve their lives by applying unbiased, scientific knowledge focused on issues and needs is the mission of the Cooperative Extension Service. The land-grant mandate that empowers Extension to offer educational information, programs, and services in response to grassroot needs is made possible by the continuing partnership of county, state and federal governments.

Extension educators in every South Dakota county are your local source for unbiased, research-based knowledge. They'll help you find answers to your questions and suggest how best to apply that information to your situation. Extension educators and specialists focus their efforts in the areas of emphasis and respond to the needs identified by South Dakota citizens.

Experience Works, Inc.

Senior Community Service Employment Program participants must be 55 years of age or older and meet federal income guidelines. Participants are assigned to local nonprofit or public agencies -- host agencies -- for an average of 20 hours per week and paid at the prevailing minimum wage.

While receiving training or updating their existing skills, participants provide valuable services to their local communities. You might find an Experience Works worker reading to children at the library, running the local blood bank, assisting teachers and students in elementary schools, operating recycling centers, staffing emergency hotlines, cooking meals at senior centers, clerking at Veterans Affairs offices and giving tours in local museums. They tutor students, teach skilled trades and crafts, provide home health and day care, prepare and deliver meals for homebound people, care for the disabled, operate computers, and work as clerks, mechanics, and manual laborers, and yes, still build parks and work on beautification projects.

Experience Works participants find fulfillment from community service assignments by helping others and contributing to their communities. They often enjoy improved attitudes and health, and as a result, maintain their independence and dignity.

South Dakota CARES

South Dakota CARES is a non-profit charity that provides services to help children and adults with disabilities and/or special needs as well as support to their families. South Dakota CARES is committed to caring for children and adults with physical and mental disabilities and special needs resulting from any cause, whether diagnosed at birth or incurred through disease, accidental injury or aging.

South Dakota CARES Recycle For Life Program

To address the problems of unused or underutilized durable medical equipment and people without funding for these items, South Dakota CARES, with the assistance of many partners and volunteers statewide, has developed the South Dakota CARES Recycle For Life program. The program searches the state for good, quality medical equipment and assistive technology, refurbishes it and redistributes it to South Dakotans with disabilities.

Caregivers' Training and Support

Throughout the year, caregivers' training is offered to educate family and professional caregivers, care receivers, and other interested parties about resources available for people with disabilities. This training addresses special needs of people with disabilities, resources, provides information, and assists in building a network of support for the caregivers. Offered in a workshop format, or informally in a support group setting, South Dakota CARES staff provide state-of-the-art information and resources. Respite care is available for the person receiving care when needed.

DakotaLink

DakotaLink is an assistive technology project funded by a grant from the National Institute on Disability and Rehabilitation Research (NIDRR), U.S. Department of Education. The grant is administered by the SD Department of Human Services, through the Division of Rehabilitation Services, under a contract with the Black Hills Special Services Cooperative.

The DakotaLink project is directed toward systems change and advocacy which will result in a comprehensive, consumer responsive system of technology-related assistance for individuals with disabilities of all ages. DakotaLink seeks to identify and design strategies that eliminate or overcome barriers to individuals with disabilities accessing assistive technology in a timely manner. Consumers, parents, guardians and professionals are sought to be partners in the barrier reduction process.

DakotaLink also works closely with state agencies and disability organizations to overcome barriers and provide training for consumers and professionals. Demo centers, training activities and a mobile trailer bring assistive technology information, training and hands-on opportunities to the most remote areas of the state. This same method brings services to the Native American population on nine reservations throughout South Dakota.

Department of Transportation

Office of Public Transit

Rural Public Transit: Federal Transit Administration (FTA) Section 5311 Program authorizes capital, administrative, operating assistance and training grants to state agencies, local governments, Indian tribes, and nonprofit organizations providing rural public transportation services. All projects must benefit residents in non-urbanized areas (under 50,000 population) of South Dakota. Section 5311 provides up to 80% federal share of the costs for administrative expenses, up to 80% for capital costs and up to 50% of the net operating deficit for rural transit operations.

Coordinated community transit systems serving both the rural public and human service agencies are preferred applicants for Section 5311 grants.

Department of Labor

South Dakota's Career Learning Centers work closely with Job Service and the Department of Labor to provide education and training services that meet the needs of local employers.

The centers enroll students from a wide range of backgrounds including those who are economically disadvantaged, welfare recipients, high school dropouts, dislocated workers and older workers. The curriculum in a career learning center is individualized, self-paced and open entry/exit. Career specialists determine the individual client's interests, aptitudes, abilities and motivation. Then an employability plan is prepared to address that student's education and job training needs. Students not only learn how to look for a job, they also learn job retention skills so they know what employers expect.

Career center staff also offer advice to clients on such topics as budgeting, alcohol and drug abuse, personal hygiene and self-esteem. Participants who complete career center programs are ready to enter the workforce as highly motivated and productive employees.

In addition to courses supported through the Job Training Partnership Act, most CLCs also offer services for which they charge. These may include writing resumes, offering computer training courses, providing customer training services, or providing some type of training for businesses.
